SHANHAIKWAN OCCUPIED BY 4TH BRIGADE, SAYS REUTERS

Whereabouts Of Wu Pei-fu Is Still Unknown

GUNS REMOVED

Exodus Arriving In Chinwangtao And Changli

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Mukden, Oct. 16.—It is officially stated that Shanhaikuan was completely occupied this morning, the 4th bridage entering the city.

(Eastern News Agency)

Tientsin, Oct. 15.—At daybreak today, the Fengtien troops commenced their furious attack upon the high land of Chiaoshanssu. Three heavy guns, which have hitherto been placed in Shanhaikwan, have been removed to Chinwangtao. Last night, the Fengtien troops furiously bombarded the position of the Chihli forces in the sector of Shihmensai. Thousands of refugees are arriving in Chinwangtao and Changli.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Mukden, Oct. 15.—Reinforcing the Chihli left wing with the Third Division, Marshal Wu Pei-fu made a determined attempt to recapture Shanochai at daybreak today, says a Fengtien communique, but, after very severe fighting, the Chihli forces retired. Simultaneously the enemy attempted a surprise flank attack through the hills, but the movement was reported by Fengtien aeroplanes and repulsed with the aid of trench mortars.

The communique says that the Chihli troops made a gallant stand when pursued but were driven back, losing two guns.

The Fengtien command also claims to have captured Shihmenkai and Santaokuan.

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, Oct. 15.—In view of the great inconvenience to which both Chinese and foreigners have been subjected since the outbreak of the present Chihli-Fengtien war, owing to uncertainty of departures and arrivals of trains on the Peking-Tientsin line, the Diplomatic Corps here today made a strong protest with Dr. Wellington Koo, Minister for Foreign Affairs, requesting him to see to it that trains running between Peking and Tientsin be more punctual and that at least two coaches for the exclusive use of foreigners be attached to each train.

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, Oct. 16.—The Eastern News Agency learns that when 7,000 Chihli troops attempted to land at Chinwangtao today, the Commander of the British Garrison there is alleged to have refused the landing of the Chinese troops in question on the ground that it is incompatible with the protocol of 1901.

(Eastern News Agency)

Tientsin, Oct. 15.—The whereabouts of Marshal Wu Pei-fu, who has left Chinwangtao on board the man-of-war, Haitse, is still unknown. However, judging from the fact that a Japanese steamer, which arrived in Chingwantao yesterday, met off Chinchow a warship, which looked like the Haitse, it seems probable that Marshal Wu is scouting a place suitable for landing his troops to attack the Fengtien troops in the rear.

(Eastern News Agency)

Tientsin, Oct. 15.—It is learnt on good authority that Marshal Chang Tso-lin has ordered the Fourth Fengtien Army stationed in Chinchow to advance as far as Suichung, and that upon the arrival there of the Army in question, Marshal Chang contemplates giving orders to all his troops at the Shanhaikwan front to fight a decisive battle with the Chihli forces in that sector.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tientsin, Oct. 15.—The Tientsin East station at present looks like a military camp. Military trains are standing by all day, and occasional hospital trains arrive from the front, the latter often carrying soldiers who died en route from the front. Many wounded soldiers have been

PLATFORM UPSETS WHEN MacDONALD ADDRESSES CROWD

Premier And 200 Others Are Thrown To Ground; No One Hurt

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 15.—Mr. Ramsay Macdonald had an alarming experience while addressing an audience of 10,000 persons at Cleckheaton this afternoon. The platform collapsed and the Prime Minister and 200 persons were thrown to the ground. Nobody was hurt. Mr. Macdonald arose smiling.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 15.—In a speech to 5,000 persons at Manchester, where he was accorded a tumultuous reception, Mr. Macdonald said that the combination of Liberals and Tories might, though he thought not, have the same effect as the same combination in the House of Commons. "We can go down. We have been down before. The Labor Party, ousted by unholy combinations, may lose a seat here and there, but I mistake human nature very much if the manifestations of enthusiasm I have seen the last two days mean mere passing emotion."

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 15.—At a Unionist rally at Queen's Hall today Mr. Stanley Baldwin appeared on the platform carrying a horseshoe decorated with a red, white and blue ribbon. He was given an ovation.

Mr. Baldwin said that the modern Samson of a Prime Minister was determined to pull down the pillars of the Tabernacle. The Labor Party could never play a part as a patriotic and constitutional party until it purged itself of extremists. The policy of the Labor Government was based on feelings and emotions which it was impossible to translate into action. If it were possible to embody any of the proposals of the Labor manifesto in acts of Parliament an appalling disturbance in trade and industry and in national life would [illegible] was true that the function of the Government was to encourage individual effort, Mr. Baldwin said, but the most striking feature of the Labor Government's record was their failure as regards unemployment, for which the electorate would call on them very severely to account.

After outlining the Unionist constructive policy Mr. Baldwin referred to Imperial affairs. He said that the Unionist Party stood for the closest cooperation with regard to Imperial preference. India at present was causing great anxiety owing to the

SUIT AGAINST MR. S. A. MOSS IS DISMISSED

Court Finds Him Not Guilty Of Causing Death Of Plaintiff's Husband

As a result of judgment delivered at the close of a two days hearing in the U. S. Court for China, Mr. Sidney A. Moss was found not guilty of causing the death of Wai Sia Yick by negligently driving his motor car on June 3, in the suit brought by the widow of the deceased to recover Tls. 25,000 damages.

Mr. M. L. Heen appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. W. S. Fleming, with whom was associated Mr. J. Em. Lemiere, appeared for the defendant.

The court in giving judgment commented on the fact that the only actual eyewitness of the accident was Mr. Moss, the coolie having testified that he did not see the approach of the defendent's car and knew nothing of the accident until it happened, and was absolutely unable to give the Court any assistance. Mr. Moss's evidence was corroborated by the French police officer and there was nothing to show that he did not manipulate his car in a prudent and competent manner on the night in question.

The Judge expressed realisation of the fact that the case was a hard one for the widow of the deceased, but he could not reach any other conclusion in the case, but that the defendant was not guilty of negligence and judgment would have to be in his favor.

CANTON AFIRE; TROOPS AND VOLUNTEERS IN HOT BATTLE

Mercenaries Clash With Merchants In Big Combat

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, Oct. 15.—Soldiers are locting openly on the front bund and in many other places.

The Merchant Volunteers at Saikwan are still holding out but the suburb is surrounded by Dr. Sun's Yunnanese mercenaries.

Several big fires have broken out in Saikwan, presumably set by soldiers, but most of the street barriers are still secure.

Hundreds of panic-stricken refugees are fleeing across the river to Honam.

Canton streets are practically deserted.

It is the general opinion that this condition may continue for 2 or 3 days.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Oct. 16.—The Naval authorities have received a wireless message from Canton that a large fire which raged all day yesterday is now under control. The merchant volunteers have been defeated. The damage is estimated at $7,000,000. The loss of life is probably large.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Oct. 10.—Mr. Chan Lim-pak, the commander-in-chief of the Kwangtung Provincial Volunteers and commandant of the Canton Merchant Volunteer Corps, interviewed yesterday at his residence, 15 The Peak, said, when questioned regarding the arms seized by Dr. Sun Yat-sen from the Volunteers, that he had not expected to be disappointed in regard to the return of the arms, with Dr. Sun "talking of Democracy."

Replying to a question as to whether there was any possible hope of Dr. Sun releasing the arms to the Volunteers, Mr. Chan said that Dr. Sun Yat-sen, personally and through his representatives, verbally and in writing, had assured the Canton Merchant Volunteers that he would release the seized property to its rightful owners. Moreover, the arms were imported with legal permission and license granted by Dr. Sun's government, and in view of the repeated promises of Dr. Sun to release them, the Volunteers could not expect otherwise.

Referring to the charge by Dr. Sun Yat-sen regarding his alleged formation of a party similar to the Fascist movement, Mr. Chan laughingly declared that the charge was absolutely baseless.

He said: "Many business men, like himself, have more work than they can attend to and have no time to go into active politics. Under the present conditions political service is not by any means attractive, and no decent person nowadays cares to bother with politics. To the business man, professional officialdom is neither honorable nor respectable. It is unnecessary to occupy political offices to serve the country."

Speaking for himself, Mr. Chan said that he had served the public for more than 20 years without holding political office. He had done what he could for many educational, commercial, and charitable institutions.

Questioned as to Dr. Sun's charge that he, Mr. Chan, was ambitious of becoming a Tuchun, he related an offer made by the Canton authorities, then under the Kwangsi regime, and the people of Kwangtung to him to become civil governor of the province. At that time Canton was peaceful, he said, and if he would not enter politics then, in 1919, he would certainly not do so now.

Mr. Chan strongly denied that he had ever sent an agent to meet Marshal Wu Pei-fu in Loyang. He said that the Volunteers were non-political and non-partisan and would not join any party or movement involved in politics.

To him it appeared that the Canton merchants originally had not thought of overthrowing Dr. Sun Yat-sen. They had been opposing him only because of hihs oppressive acts and confiscatory taxation and owing to the lawlessness of his mercenaries.

Commenting on national topics, Mr. Chan said that at the present very few militarists and politicians could be found who were patriotic. They were all working for their

ZR-3 Is Shown In Her Successful Flight

The world's largest dirigible, ZR-3, which arrived at Lakehurst on Wednesday, was built in Friedrichshafen, Germany, for the U. S. Navy, and later to be turned over to the Army. It is here shown making her flight through a rain storm and squall, under the command of Dr. Eckener, her flight commander. Captain Steele, U. S. N., who will command the trip when she is delivered to the Navy, was on board as a passenger. The dirigible is fitted with super accommodations for passengers and crew, including excellent sleeping and dining quarters.

Airship Makes Trip In 81 Hours 25 Minutes

(Reuter's American Service)

New York, Oct. 15.—The Zeppelin ZR3 arrived here at 4.50 this morning.

Later.—The ZR3 has been sighted at Lakehurst.

(Reuter's American Service)

New York, Oct. 15.—The Zeppelin ZR3 arrived at Lakehurst 81 hours 25 minutes after leaving Friedrichshafen. She made a fine landing.

President Coolidge immediately sent a message congratulating Captain Eckner on the epoch-making achievement of the airship. He said: "It is a matter of great satisfaction to me and the people of the United States that peaceful relations between Germany and America are fully re-established, and this great airship has inaugurated the first direct air flight between Germany and the United States."

(Reuter's American Service)

New York, Oct. 15.—There were enthusiastic scenes on the arrival here of the ZR3. She was escorted by two aeroplanes.

Crowds, many on roofs of skyscrapers, everywhere, watched her majestically sailing by, after her trans-Atlantic crossing at twice the speed of the fastest ocean liner. Cheers rose from thousands of throats, hats were tossed in the air, there were shrill blasts from boats in the harbor, and whistles and factory sirens as the airship flew low over the heart of the city. She circled the city five times before proceeding to Lakehurst.

(Reuter's American Service)

Lakehurst, Oct. 15.—The log of the Zeppelin ZR3 shows that she covered 5,066 miles at a speed which averaged 66 miles per hour, as compared with 29 miles per hour for Zepplin R34 in 1919.

The fuel tanks of ZR3 were one-quarter full when she berthed.

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Oct. 15.—President Ebert has telegraphed heartily congratulating Commander Ekener and the crew of the ZR3 on behalf of the Government and the whole nation, saying that the achievement would live in history and hoping that the ZR3, in the course of further flights "will proclaim Germany's genius and

Plan For Relief Of Local Situation Is Suggested By Prominent Chinese Writer

Mr. Feng Ping-nan Advocates Formation Of Committee Of Representatives Of Local Bodies To Tackle Problem

A plan for the prompt relief of the present precarious situation of Shanghai was presented in an interesting article contributed to the press by Mr. Feng Ping-nan, a prominent Chinese writer on current problems who is associated with the law firm of Ellis and Hays.

The article, which deals with the momentous question of the disbandment of the returned Chekiang troops, follows:

"According to the latest press reports, the sudden departure of Generals Lu Yung-hsiang and Ho Feng-ling from Shanghai will not lead to the complete cessation of hostilities, as a section of the Chekiang Army still appears to be inclined to the continuation of the war at the slightest provocation. The truth of this report has not been confirmed at the time of writing but it should not be considered as an impossible eventuality, since we had a similar case in the year of Kwei Chou (1913) when with the departure of Hwang Hsing, a prominent figure in the Second Revolution, from Nanking, it was believed that peace was restored; but Ho Hai-ming, another revolutionary leader, suddenly took up the challenge and resumed the fighting prolonging the war for more than 20 days.

"In view of the withdrawal of the Chekiang forces and their congregation in Shanghai, the fact that they are hemmed in by Kiangsu and Fukien troops indicates a danger of friction attended with prospects of grave consequences. It is, therefore, of vital importance that, apart from the advocacy of a pacific settlement of the situation, some kind of an immediately feasible solution should be found for the removal of the causes for alarm. The writer would suggest that a committee for coping with the present situation should be at once formed whose members should be composed of representatives of the leading organisations of Shanghai. This committee is chiefly to concern itself with the problem of raising the necessary funds for the disbandment or repatriation of the returned Chekiang soldiers and the Central Government should be held responsible for reimbursement of the outlay so incurred.

"To avoid all possible misunderstandings the committee should at once negotiate for a complete truce, the immediate rescinding of any orders for the advance of troops to Shanghai from the Chihli leaders and finally the undertaking on the part of the Chekiang forces to refrain from making any counter-attack whatsoever. The higher military officers on the Chekiang side should be asked to hold a special meeting in order to give effect to these

BRITISH PORTION OF GERMAN LOAN OVERSUBSCRIBED

French Share Also Taken Up And Virtually Fully Subscribed

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 15.—The British portion of the German loan has been oversubscribed. The lists closed at one o'clock this afternoon.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Oct. 15.—The French portion of the German loan has been entirely taken up by French banks, which are disposing of the bonds privately.

It is stated that the demand is so strong that the issue may be considered already virtually fully subscribed.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 15.—The heavy subscriptions to the German loan partly consist of stags or small speculators who anticipate that a premium will be established when the loan is allotted and that they will thus snatch a quick profit.

PEACE AND NORMALCY HELD UP BY ABSENCE OF VICTORIOUS LEADERS

Chekiang Men Willing To Take Pay And Get Out; Chinese Here Have Money To Pay Them; Only Kiangsu Rule Of Parleys Lacking To Clear Up War Debris

BY TALBOT PATRICK

The war situation, already easing, can be cleared up in jig time if only the victors will come into Shanghai and turn over some spoils to the more or less defeated Chekiang soldiers.

Money is the only talk needed to order all dangerous elements away from the city and the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, whose officers have a shrewd idea that the Shanghai merchants would have to pay sooner or later, is ready to put up.

The only thing lacking is the appearance of Marshal Chi or some official delegated by him with full power to close everything up.

Chi won't come, it is understood, so long as several thousand men of the late Chekiang army remain intrenched across the railway at Markham Road Junction. The soldiers say they will stay there until they have been settled with. So, if Chi won't make any other entry except one in new first class railway carriages, we suggest he delegate authority to someone else to get busy, and to get busy quick.

Information at the Lunghua yamen last night was that neither General Sun Chuang-fang nor Bei Pao-san had yet arrived. General Chang Yung-ming of the Hueph troops had been in conference during the day and was in one again last night, but had not made any move to get in touch with the Chinese Chamber of Commerce. It is doubtful whether he has received authority to clear up the whole matter of the Chekiang men, though delegates of the latter are known to be negotiating as to the amount they will take.

The Chamber of Commerce has likewise been unable to get in touch with the new commissioner of foreign affairs, Mr. Wen Shih-tsun, who as the representative of the Central Government and a friend of Marshal Chi would be a suitable person to handle the negotiations.

Meanwhile, Chekiang men are reported to have begun to rob wayfarers in Chapei and to force military scrip of slight or no value upon exchange shops in order to obtain funds. These actions are said to be carried on in a quiet, almost friendly way, but with the threat of force, of course, always present. There is not reported to have been any looting of consequence by these soldiers.

Kiangsu troops are in a line across the railroad track a mile beyond the Markham Road intrenchments. They are known to have been looting in villages and farmers' houses, though they could have obtained but little in most of these places, which had been deserted by all richer citizens.

"Now don't you shoot at me, because if you do I'll have to shoot at you," was the attitude of the two forces facing each other. More Kiangsu men are over between the Nanking rail line and Lunghua Junction.

Marshal Chi is unnderstood to have ordered that a train be prepared to take him into Shanghai. The forceful opposition Chekiang men would make to his coming unless they had been taken care of first was manifested during the day at the North station, where a company of bombems prevented any locomotives from going up the line.

The bombers are youths who were organized as a "Dare to Die" group and their carefree handling of Mills bombs quickly convinced the railway staff that no locomotives would be moved.

Railway officials hoped, however, that they might have passenger trains running before the end of the week. Repair trains are ready to start out to fix the telegraph lines as soon as they are allowed to move and a limited train movement could be carried on even before the repairs are completed. Materials are all ready for another train to go down the Hangchow line and begin repairs on the two big bridges between Sungkiang and Kashing which were damaged.

Trains are now running between Kashing and Hangchow and they will be run from here to the nearer of the two bridges as soon as possible. The Nanking line is open except for the bar of the Chekiang soldiers. Trains with Kinagsu men came straight through to Chenju, the first station up the line from here. A small break in the line was made between Jessfield and Siccawei, but this can be quickly repaired.

Once again, it is only a question of how soon the Kiangsu leader will make his arrangements with the Chekiang soldiers to determine when crowds of refugees

INDEPENDENCE GRANT CERTAIN FOR FILIPINOS

Quezon And Osmena Here; Says Three Political Parties Promise Freedom

Manuel L. Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate and Senator Sergio Osmena, prominent officials of the Philippine Islands are in Shanghai for [illegible] days on their way home to [illegible] after a trip to the United States which resulted in political developments of unusual moment to the future of the island possessions of the United States in this part of the world. They are passengers on the Admiral Line steamer President Grant, and spent the day yesterday in renewing acquaintances in Shanghai among both foreigners and Chinese and in investigating the local Chinese political situation.

Both Quezon and Osmena were enthusiastic regarding the results of their trip to the United States which covered several months and included a brief trip to Spain and other parts of Europe.

"All three of the political parties in the present national campaign in the United States are now committed to the independence of the Philippines," said Mr. Quezon in discussing the question with a representative of THE CHINA PRESS yesterday. "The Democratic and La-Follette parties are pledged to immediate independence and the Republican are pledged to the so-called Fairfield Bill introduced in the last session of Congress which provides for local autonomy and complete independence at the end of twenty years, providing the people of the Philippines desire independence at that time and so express themselves in a general plebiscite. Both Senator Osmena and myself feel highly gratified at the success of our visit to the United States this year and especially so at the friendly interest of the American people in our political and economic problems.

Mr. Quezon was more reserved when asked to express an opinion regarding the present political campaign in the United States. That the campaign is a "hot" one he admitted and expressed the opinion that the chief emphasis is upon the personalities of the candidates rather than upon parties. When asked regarding the possible victor in the three-cornered contest he said that the fight is largely between President Coolidge and Senator La Follette, the leader of the Progressive party. He believed that the outcome may be either the election of Coolidge by a small majority or the throwing of the whole election into Congress, in which case, the outcome would be extremely questionable with the advantage resting with La Follette who probably would combine with the Democrats rather than with the Republicans.

In case the Republicans are successful and President Coolidge can start back from Shanghai to their homes.

As specified above, the Chinese Chamber of Commerce is willing and anxious to hurry up the end. It is ready to supply the needed money which Chi himself probably has not on hand, though with some stipulations for the future safety of the city. These are suggested to be agreements to move the arsenal and powder magazine away from Shanghai, to scrap the obsolete but danger attracting forts at Woosung and to turn over to a Merchants Volunteer force already partly organised in Nantao the arms bought from the Chekiang soldiers. There is something to start from. Let's go!

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 15.—A mandate issued last night containing "pacification" appointments says that fortunately the struggle in the South-West is now ended, and the rival soldiers are at peace in the fighting areas. Tranquility has been restored in Chekiang and Shanghai. It commends the conduct in the field of Marshal Chi Hsieh-yuan and General Sun Chuan-fang, and the praiseworthy bravery of their officers and men, which is highly appreciated by the Government.

As regards the manner in which the people will be restored to normal calm and the defeated soldiery disbanded, General Li Hou-chi and Mr. Wang Hu, who have been appointed pacification commissioners, will consult with the local authorities, says the mandate, and thereupon take such action as may be necessary.

The Finance Ministry is allocating $100,000 for relief purposes.

President Grant Brings In Many Noted Passengers

The Admiral Line steamer, President Grant, which arrived from Seattle yesterday afternoon brought in many prominent persons, among them were: Hon. Manuel L. Quezon, President of the Philippine Senate and Hon. Sergio Osmena, a member of the Senate, who are returning from their mission in the United States regarding the Philippine Independence and are on their way to Manila. Miss Elsie McCormick, formerly of THE CHINA PRESS and author of several books on China, also returned aboard the Grant.

Other prominent passengers on the steamer included Mr. Roy Anderson, well known in political circles who acted as mediator in securing the release of the bandit captives last winter; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Barrett, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Betty Barrett, Methodist missionaries; Mr. W. W. Cline, connected with the Y. M. C. A.; Mrs. W. G. Hiltner, wife of Dr. W. G. Hiltner, Rev. George Holm, a Norwegian Lutheran missionary, three sons, and family and Miss Mary E. Wood, Librarian in the Boone University at Wuchang.

placed in hospitals in the native city.

Yesterday a member of the regimental guard shot a station coolie in the leg and smashed a window with an automatic pistol when the Traffic Inspector refused to accede to certain demands. A French Lunamite station guard was informed but did not interfere, and the culprit escaped, but it was later reported that he had been captured and decapitated on the platform of the next station.

Traffic congestion is at present worse than ever. Military trains are monopolising all sidings and platforms.

Yesterday an Allied train carrying contingents of British, American, French and Japanese troops and decorated with Allied flags left Tientsin East station for Shanhaikwan in order to clear the line.

Trains now take 24 hours to reach Peking. Foreign garages are operating a motorcar service on the Peking-Tientsin road, charging $50 a trip.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Mukden, Oct. 15.—It is officially claimed that the Fengtien forces have captured Shimenkai Fort and that the capture of Chiaoshashi is expected without difficulty.

The communique says that Shimenkai was completely occupied yesterday afternoon by the Sixteenth Brigade after four days and nights of hard fighting.

Local reports state that the Chihli General Chang Chih-kow has been killed.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 12.—Reuter's Agency is officially requested to state that there is no truth whatever in the report that the President asked "Mr. Ferguson" or anyone else to mediate for peace.

A mandate issued last night appoints General Yen Hsi-shan, Tuchun of Shansi, as Commandant in Shansi for preparations for the punitive expedition. General Li Ho Hou-chi, former Tuchun of Fukien, Gen. Wang Ting-chen, former Tutung of Chahar, and General Chang Ching-yao, former Tuchun of Hunan, are appointed Vice-Commandants of Reinforcements.

General Wang Huai-ching is said to be advancing through (?) Lungkow with the object of cutting through the enemy forces between Shanhaikuan and Chaoyang.

Successful bombing expeditions are reported from the Government front without the loss of machine.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 12.—The departure for the front of Marshal Wu Pei-fu, coupled with reports that he secured large sums of money, principally from other provinces, has brought about a more optimistic feeling in Peking, where it is generally believed that a decision will now be reached this autumn.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 16.—Reuter's special correspondent at Chinwangtao cables that after inspecting the battle line near Shaochai on October 13, Marshal Wu Pei-fu left instructions to advance at full speed. He later inspected the line Shanhaikuan to Chengtseku, where the enemy forces are falling back, and resistance, though not yet broken, has been badly shaken.

Marshal Wu Pei-fu received on Monday the representative of General Li Ching-lin, Brigadier General Mah Suang-chang, who reported that the previous private understanding was disagreeable to General Chang Chung-chang (one of General Li Ching-lin's subordinates), and agreed to an amended understanding, pursuant to which he would join the Government troops after the occupation of Lingyuan, and promising not to resist at Lingyuan.

Meantime, owing to the weakening of the Fengtien position at Shanhaikuan, General Chang Tso-lin has transferred a large portion of troops there from the West front.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 16.—Telegrams from foreign sources state that the Fengtien troops captured Chihfeng October 6, but were driven out by the Government forces on October 14.

A Chinese official telegram reports that the Fengtien troops have been driven out beyond the Great Wall at Chiumen, where fighting is still proceeding.

Large Government forces are being sent to Shanhaikuan, where the Fengtien troops are also being reinforced. The opinion is gaining ground that a heavy battle must take place in that front in the near future.

is returned to office, Mr. Quezon believes that Congress will pass the Fairfield Bill during the coming short session which begins in November. When asked for a statement regarding the problem of independence of the Philippines, the leader of the Philippine Senate referred to a recent article which he contributed to the Current History magazine which contained the following summarisation of the situation:

"Concretely, the whole Philippine problem reduces itself to the following: The people of the United States, speaking through Congress in 1916, assured the Filipinos that independence would be recognised as soon as a stable government could be established in the islands under the Jones law. Such a government having been organised, the only condition precedent to the granting of independence in accordance with the terms of that law has been met, and it is now incumbent on the American people to perform their part of the covenant. In fact, the Filipinos have more than complied with their obligation: they have not only set up a stable government, but achieved progress in the various lines of human endeavor."

proposals so far as their own sphere of influence is concerned.

"Pending the execution of these disbandment measures," adequate arrangements for feeding the troops should be made while the arms surrendered should be taken into temporary custody by the said committee. Should these proposals be adopted it is expected that the problems of stopping further hostilities in this part of China will be accomplished without further bloodshed and the interests of both sides will also be best served, the Kiangsu and Fukien military authorities being thus able to achieve their aim of taking over the control of Shanghai whilst the Chekiang soldiers will be able to return to their home with a reasonable amount of money in their pockets.

"The situation has indeed arrived at a very critical stage and it behoves the influential leaders of the place to get busy at once to tackle this knotty problem energetically, wisely and expeditiously."

own ends, not for democracy but for the ruin and destruction of all institutions aiming at a government by and for the people.

Referring to the civil war in China, Mr. Chan did not believe that there would be any true peace and unification in China until militarists had been put to an end and all militarists, both in the North and in the South, had been overthrown by the united effort of the people.

(Eastern News Agency)

Canton, Oct. 15.—The Government troops, which early this morning launched a general attack upon merchant volunteers, finally set fire to various parts in the city. Flames rapidly spread and enveloped the thickly populated districts, which are now being baptised with flames, cannon and rifle fire. The city has thus become a scene of agonising shrieks and its confusion is indescribable.

To make matters worse, the mercenaries, belonging to the Government, taking advantage of the confusion, are ransacking all over the city. General Wu Tieh-cheng, who has been appointed agent by Dr. Sun as Director of the Peace Preservation Bureau, is now standing at the head of the disorderly mercenaries.

wrecking tactics of the extremists, who had not attempted to conceal their intention of rendering the present system of Government unworkable. India was seething with a religious conflict between Hindus and Mahomedans. But for the strong protecting arm of Britain, which was never more urgently needed than today, large parts of India might revert to chaos. He feared that some of the responsibility for this situation must rest on the nerveless, vacillating policy of Lord Olivier, the Secretary of State for India. The Conservatives would unhesitatingly pursue a firm and definite policy based on the letter and spirit of the reforms guaranteed to India. Such a policy alone would restore order. He was determined that due regard should be given to the needs of public servants in India who had suffered economic hardships.

Mr. Y. P. Wang, assistant manager of the Shun Pao, the Chinese Daily News, Shanghai, will give a lecture on American journalism at the Martyr's Memorial Hall of the Shanghai Y.M.C.A. on next Tuesday and Wednesday. The lecture will be illustrated by motion pictures and lantern slides which were obtained by Mr. Wang from the Detroit News, Detroit, Wis., while he was in America two months ago. Mr. Wang received the degree of Bachelor of Journalism from the University of Missouri in 1923 and the degree of Mater of Science in Journalism from the School of Journalism of the Columbia University. The first lecture will be given at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to an audience of Chinese newspaper men. The second lecture will be given at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening to students of local schools and other persons who are interesting in the progress of modern journalism.

The Dramatic Department of the American Woman's Club will instead present "A Full House" on November 10, 11 and 12. To those who have already purchased tickets arrangements have been made with Moutrie's to exchange tickets of October 20 for the November 10 performance; October 21 tickets for November 11, and October 22 tickets for November 12. It is hoped that by November 10 things will have quieted down sufficiently to give the performance of "A Full House" which promises to exceed the success accorded the Dramatic Department of the A. W. Forral Beats Flores In 12 Rounds; Canion And Smith Show Their Stuff

In the main event at the Carlton last night Benny Forral got the decision over Felipe Flores in twelve rounds of good mixing. Both boys went to it hot and heavy from the start, and it was an interesting bout. Forral weighed in at 118 pounds and Flores at 120.

There was no time wasted in preliminary sparring. The two mixed it from the beginning, Forral starting off better but Flores coming back with some good wallops both in the second and third rounds. Benny showed his usual speed, and jabbed and swung successfully several times, but Flores stood up to it, and countered well. The first four rounds were anybody's fight.

The mixing continued through the following rounds, but in the sixth the boys began to slow up somewhat, and in the seventh also. At the end of the seventh, though, they got together and showed some lovely fireworks before the gong rang, and in the eighth Benny landed a beautiful right swing which staggered Flores, but the other boy kept on. Forral had a shade the best of the fighting at this stage, but Flores held his own in the ninth.

The last three rounds were fine going. Forral landed several good wallops in the tenth, but failed to follow them up. First blood was drawn in this round, Benny cutting Flores' lip with a right swing. The boys were mixing it so hard that they didn't hear the bell ring, and both landed stiff punches after the gong sounded.

In the eleventh the boys continued the same tactics, and in the twelfth also. Flores tried hard to even things up in the last round, but the fight was already Forral's, and he got the decision. Young Voltaire refereed, and Messrs. Himrod and Howard were judges.

FOLYANO BEATS FERNAN

In the special event Folyano got the decision over Fernan in eight rounds of pretty good going. The newcomer was outweighed three pounds by the Fighter, but this was counterbalanced by his advantage in height and reach.

The two bantams started off fairly well. Folyano was inclined to feel the other boy out, and kept hopping away during the early part of the first round. He became more aggressive later, and in the second round landed on Fernan several times with effect. He showed more speed and cleverness than the other boy, but his right swings, which were obviously intended as sleep-producers, failed to land.

Fernan landed some good body blows in the third. In the fourth Folyano drew blood, a nasty swing starting the claret from Fernan's nose. In general, however, there was more walking than punching.

Folyano was not much inclined to mix, and danced away several times when Fernan went after him. He tried repeatedly to land with his right uppercut, but could not put it across, though he got through more successfully than the Fighter. At the end of the fight Young Volaire, refereeing, gave the decision to Folyano.

CANION AND SMITH SHOW OFF

Before the two principal fights of the evening, exhibitions were given by Rufe Canion and Matty Smith, the stellar attractions who will appear in the big night next Thursday at the Carlton. Matty went three two-minute rounds with Knute Hansen in last night's exhibition. Matty, of course, was somewhat handicapped in the way of size, but when Knute leaned over him in his paternal way Matty succeeded in reaching up to his partner's jaw, and at one point of the game looked as if he was going to bite Knute's ear off. He decided to embrace him instead, however, and they wound up in a loving caress. This was probably as much enjoyed as any event of the evening. Speaking of Mutt and Jeff....

Rufe Canion tried out with Terrible Pete, who flashed a new pair of pants and looked more terrible than ever. Rufe gave a clever exhibition of speed and skill, dodging, ducking, and sidestepping, and at the finish took a few fairly stiff punches just to show he didn't mind things like that. He is in splendid condition. He will have to be to stand up to Matty, who will go into the ring a whole lot heavier than Rufe next week.

There were two good curtain-raisers, in the second of which Terrible Pete kayoed Young Garcia in the fifth round of what was scheduled as a six-round go. It was a good match, and Pete landed a kayo which brings his credit up a bit, as some of the fans were beginning to wonder where the "terrible" came in at. Leonardo Garcia refereed.

The first fight, between Charlie Xavier and Young Freddie, was also interesting. Both boys mixed it up pretty well. Xavier showed more cleverness than the other youngster, and was awarded the decision at the end of the four rounds.

DUKE OF YORK UNVEILS NAVAL WAR MEMORIAL

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 15.—The Duke of York today unveiled at Portsmouth the last of the three naval war memorials erected in British ports in memory of the 25,563 men and women who perished in the naval service during the Great War, of which two have already been unveiled, at Chatham and at Devonport.

His Royal Highness said that the names of the 9,750 officers and men there recorded would live forever.

The Duke of York, the Canadian Minister of Defence, the Commander-in-Chief at Portsmouth, the Mayor and others laid wreaths at the base of the monument. A wreath was also laid on behalf of Australia.

WAHABIS ENTER MECCA; WONT ATTACK JEDDAH

(Reuter's Service)

Cairo, Oct. 15.—The Wahabis entered Mecca today. The situation is quiet. There were no excesses.

The Wahabis have assured the Consular Corps at Jeddah that foreigners in Mecca will be safe and that Jeddah will not be attacked.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 15.—Official British news of the Wahabis' entry into Mecca adds the report that they are plundering the King's Palace and houses of the rich merchants.

Hongkong Governer Seeks Long And Short Term Loans

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Oct. 16.—In the course of the 1925 budget speech in the Legislative Council today the Governor advocated long and short term loans, and the issue of treasury bills to defray the cost of the large public works to which the Colony is already committed, and others in contemplation.

His Excellency gave as instances the costly works of permanent utility like the Shingmun Valley Waterworks, port development and Kowloon expansion, involving heavy initial outlay for a considerable period, but not bringing in large sums of money until completion.

Granted a continuation of reasonable prosperity, the Governor considers it will not be necessary, at least for many years, to contemplate materialy increased taxation even if the revenue from opium ceases to figure in the Colony's returns.

League Urged To Meet And Consider Iraq Frontier Issue

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Oct. 15.—The Secretary-General of the League of Nations has received a telegram from Mr. Ramsay Macdonald requesting immediate convocation of the Council of the League with a view to examining the divergent British and Turkish interpretations of the Council's resolution of September 30, regarding the status quo of the Iraq frontier.

(Reuter's Service)

Wellington, N.Z., Oct. 15.—Replying to the leader of the Opposition regarding the Japanese amendment to the Geneva protocol, Mr. W. F. Massey, the Prime Minister, said "we are not going to arbitrate. We simply say they cannot come here unless we give permission. League of Nations or no League. That is the law of the country, and that law must stand."

New Bank Organised To Finance German Industrial Concerns

(Reuter's America Service)

New York, Oct. 15.—It is announced that an American and Continental Corporation has been organised with an initial subscribed capital of $10,000,000 under the auspices of the International Acceptance Bank, the Kuhn Loeb Company and other important financial interests for the purpose of financing European industries, particularly German companies.

American School Notes

The International Student Fellowship League held its second meeting on Saturday afternoon, October 4 at the Shanghai American School. There was a fine representation from the following schools and colleges: St. John's University, Shanghai College, McTyeire School, Japanese School for Girls, Girls' School at South Gate, Tung Wen College and the American School.

Mr. M. S. Stewart of the American School was chairman of the meeting. Dr. H. T. Hodgkin of the National Christian Council was the speaker of the day, who gave a most interesting and made us realise we were all one people together. Representatives from the different schools furnished musical numbers. A Chinese orchestra and a Chinese guitar solo by St. John's students, a mandolin solo from the Shanghai College, a piano solo by McTyeire, a vocal solo by a girl from the Japanese school and a chorus by the Girl's Glee Club of the American School were greatly enjoyed.

This meeting brought all of us into better fellowship with one another, although we could not all talk in words to be understood by all, we felt as if we were friends. After the meeting all adjourned to the Dining Hall where tea was served. Sitting and talking with each other ended possible war. The first two meetings have been so successful we hope that there successors will be even more so.

Saturday evening, October fourth, the Senior Christian Endeavor Society held a social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Dyson. All enjoyed the games and refreshments, and, as at all of our Christian Endeavor socials, we had a lot of fun.

The tennis team won its second victory of the season when it played St. John's University on October 9. It was a decided walk-away for the Americans who won every one of the four single and two double matches played. Further credit is due the team as the winning team was playing on strange courts, which told greatly on all the players. Captain Hager consistently smashed his way through his opponents defences, winning in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2. Maxcy Smith played a steady game in the second singles. He had little trouble in taking the first set 6-1. His opponent then tightened up and had the lead for several games before he tired and lost to our man at 6-4.

In the third singles John Pilley played a driving game entirely. Each game was hotly contested and it was chiefly through his ability to cover the court that Pilley won 6-4, 6-4. Jack Gray again made a good showing when he defeated his opponent with a wide margin of 6-1, 6-1. The score in the first doubles was not consistent. Smith and Hager defeated the St. John's men 6-1 in the first set. In the following set, however, they slackened considerably and before they knew it again changing with the score 6-1 against them. This jarred them into their old channels and they won the third set 6-4. John Pilley and Douglas Rugh played in the second doubles, winning 6-1, 6-3.

The Music Department of the American Woman's Club has decided to have all of its programs in our Assembly Hall, so as to give the students body an opportunity of attending them. "Folk Music" was the title of the first program presented on Tuesday, October 14 at 5 p.m.

On Wednesday, October 8, the staff had its first "At Home" of the season, welcoming many new and old friends. The date for the monthly "at Homes" has been changed from the second Tuesday to the second Wednesday of each month.

On Thursday Miss Austin delighted us with a talk on "Musical Thefts," illustrated by selections on the piano, vocal solos and Victrola records.

October 12 was Columbus Day. To celebrate the discovery of America, the grade school put on a special program on Monday at ten o'clock, consisting of musical numbers, recitations and a play appropriate to the occasion. The High School students were present as guests.

Wednesday morning, October 8, Bishop Hiram Boaz of the Southern Methodist Church delivered a very inspiring address on "Will you be a scrub or a real man?"

Friday, the thirteenth anniversary of the establishment of the Chinese Republic, was observed by a special program. Mr. C. C. Chih, assistant general secretary of the East China Christian Educational Association delivered an address on "China's struggle for Democracy." A party of eight girls from the McTyeire School sang the Chinese national anthem and a ballad entitled "The Four Elders." The musical program was concluded by a vocal solo "The Jade Hairpin," by Miss Zi, accompanied by the flute.

FRETFUL BABIES
Are Quickly Comforted and Helped By BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Fretfulness in young children is usually due to stomach trouble. The use of soothing syrups fails to correct the trouble and is really harmful. It is not necessary because Baby's Own Tablets will sweeten the stomach, allay the resulting fever and bring natural rest and comfort. Read this American mother's evidence:—

"My little girl, four months old, cried all day long", says Mrs. Oscar Campbell, of No. 141 Chestnut street, Central Falls, R. I., and was restless at night. She was troubled with indigestion and sour stomach and nothing seemed to help her. Finally a friend recommended Baby's Own Tablets and the very first I gave her made her rest easy. She seldom cries now and is better in every way. I advise all mothers to keep this valuable remedy in the house."

Parents can give Baby's Own Tablets to their little ones with perfect confidence because they are guaranteed absolutely pure and free from harmful drugs. Pleasant to taste and easily administered, the children like them. They quickly reduce fever, regulate the bowels, expel worms, allay teething pains, quiet the nerves and promote health-giving sleep. Your chemist sells them, or post free, $1.50 the vial, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 60 Kiangse Road, Shanghai.

FUKIEN TROOPS LOOT SUNGKIANG AFTER ITS FALL

More Than Thousand People Take Refuge In Chapel And School

(Special Correspondence)

Sungkiang, Oct. 14.—When I got out to the Railroad Station at Mingsingjau, this morning, things certainly were in a mess. The soldiers had gone into everything and among other things the ticket cabinet had been broken into and tickets scattered everywhere.

I understand that the Fukien men climbed the city wall of Sungkiang at the East gate and at the South Gate I know they burned the gate down with rice straw and then went through. There is no doubt of the fighting ability of the Fukien men. They tell me that a machine gun was planted above them as they went in but that they went right through in spite of that and the rifles besides.

It was a mistake about three thousand soldiers being left in the city. I think that they were all out about six o'clock. They began passing our chapel a little before five and it was not long till the last one was gone. It was a blessing to us that Wang Ping had no more fight in him and had not prepared sufficiently, for thereby the taking of the city resulted in little loss of life. Bullets came into our compound, but there were few shells and shrapnel used so we did not suffer. The worst feature of the whole business was the following looting. This continued until early this morning and it may have gone on during the day in out of the way places, but the most of the soldiers are gone now and we hope there is an end of it. The poor country people have suffered most. We have taken over a thousand men, women and children into our two chapels and school buildings.

We hear today that Lu and Ho have gone to Japan and we hope that it is so. A man came through from the Lunghua Junction this evening and said that the fighting had stopped and that the soldiers were scattering. I hope that this is so. The railroad between here and Shanghai has not been so torn up that it can not be in working order after a week or two of work. An engine was wrecked just outside the South Gate last Wednesday night and some thirty odd of the soldiers it was carrying were killed. They were trying to make a break through to Shanghai, but the soldiers of Sung were ready for them. A miserable aeroplane dropped five bombs on our defenceless town Sunday morning, but very little damage was done, only two of them struck houses and the loss was slight. I would have been glad to have seen such an air-man brought down by a shot. He certainly does not deserve to live any more than a common murderer, for many little children and women might have been his victims.

Three Convicted For Gun-Running By King's Bench

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 15.—The King's Bench yesterday heard the alleged gun-running case against James Attfield and his son, Captain Cecil Attfield, in which the Crown sought to recover heavy penalties under the Customs Acts for attempting to export machine-guns.

Besides James and Cecil Attfield, there were two other defendants, Charles Philip Hinman and Frederick Gerley Firmin.

The prosecuting counsel stated that Captain Attfield entered into an agreement with Vickers Limited to purchase 56 machine-guns but the Board of Trade refused the application for permission for their export. Hinman bought a fishing-smack and the guns were placed on board and transhipped to a Dutch steamer at sea.

Cecil Attfield, Hinman and Firmin pleaded guilty, James Attfield pleaded not guilty.

The jury found against Cecil Attfield in the sum of £26,076 and against Firmin and Hinman in £15,960 each. They gave their verdict for James Attfield without costs.

A petition is being raised for the release of Cecil Attfield and Hinman, who have been virtually imprisoned for life as both are unable to pay the enormous penalties imposed.

It is pointed out that Lord Darling refused to agree to immediate execution of Firmin's penalty.

Eye-Witness Describes Trip Of Wu Pei-fu To The Front

BY LAWRENCE IMPEY

(Note:—This article dealing with Gen. Wu Pei-fu's trip from Peking to the fighting lines at Chinwangtao was mailed to THE CHINA PRESS from Tientsin on October 11, but apparently was held up by the censor and several paragraphs eliminated. We print it however in that it gives the description of an eye-witness to General Wu's trip and the pomp which surrounded it).

Tientsin, October 10.—The old halcyon days of adventure are past. No longer can war correspondents emulate the feats of Steevens, of Robertson, of Bennett Burleigh. Instead of a week's rations, an identity disc and a pony, with which to set off into the war zone, comes a polite letter from Headquarters. "Marshal Wu's train will leave Chienmen station on the night of the 10th inst. and if you will be there by 10 p.m. we shall have a couple reserved for you." Thus it was that the writer found himself pacing the platform at the hour named, studying the crowd which had assembled to receive and bid adieu to the so-called Napoleon of China.

No less than three military bands were scattered amongst the detachments of soldiers mounting guard at the station, all prepared to blare out welcoming strains as soon as the Marshal should put in an appearance. Naturally, there was the usual gathering of Chinese officials, in uniform and out, but this group was noticeably smaller than of old, for quite a few dignitaries of the capital have actually gone to the war, or at least part of the way there. Of foreigners there were also a few, mainly military observers and journalists, the general public having either not heard of the impending departure or else not wishing to break up a comfortable dinner party for such a ceremony. It was worth noting that none of the big news agencies had representatives on the spot, the journalistic world being represented by the correspndents of the Chicago Tribune, the Manchester Guardian, the China Press and the North China Daily News.

The British and American Legations had delegated an officer to accompany the train as observers, while the Fox Films Inc. had a complete outfit going to record events for the moving picture world. The feature of the scene however, was the surprising number of Japanese correspondents present, the writer counted up to sixteen and then got confused and lost track of them while he was making enquiries as to their raison d'etre. Apparently they had been in Peking watching developments in regard to the Sino-Soviet negotiations, and now that the Chinese Eastern Railway affair had been settled for the time being, they had been switched to this new scene of activity. Outside this military and news group the only foreigners present were three French nationals, the director of a French bank, the engineer of the Peking tramways, and the manager of the Kinhan railway. So that in spite of the noisy greeting of the combined bands the departure of the Chihli Headquarters from Peking to the front might be said to have been almost unnoticed. At four o'clock on the morning of the 11th Marshal Wu Pei-fu dashed up in his car and the train proceeded on its way—to a destination unknown. This statement is not quite correct perhaps, for obviously the engine-driver and the Marshal himself must have some idea as to when and where the serpent-like procession of twenty five cars would stop, but the utmost guile and the most persuasive blandishments of the Chinese civil and military officials on board failed to elicit any definite information as to the probable course of events. The line as far as Tientsin had been cleared for the Headquarters train, as was evidenced by the fact that only one lot of trucks carrying wounded was encountered en route, but nevertheless the journey, which normally occupies three hours, took well over five on this occasion, a tribute of a sort to the chaos with which military control threatens to wreck the Chinese railway system.

Another blast of music heralded the arrival of the train at Tientsin Central, where various police and military officials were waiting to greet the Commander-in-Chief, but before the breakfast car was emptied of its foreign occupants the engine again took up its duties and the cortage moved on. Speculations were indulged in as to a probable halt at Tientsin East, one forsigner going so far as to aver that it was practically certain because the well-known editor of the Peking and Tientsin Times would be waiting on the platform to interview His Excellency. But his hopes and ours were disappointed, for the train chugged on north without a stop, leaving everyone guessing wildly as to whether its destination might be Lanchowfu, Chinwangtao or Shanhaikwan itself. If it be the latter the enemy aviators will certainly be afforded a wonderful target, for a siding that parks twenty five cars is a mark that could hardly be missed. However, those that live longest will see most, as the adage says, and this epistle must be closed in order that it can be dropped at some wayside station en route.

Emergency Measures—Closing of the Boundaries.

NOTICE is hereby given that in order to preserve the peace and good order of the Settlement and to protect peaceful residents therein.

WARNING is hereby issued by the Council for the Foreign Settlement as follows:—

1.—The Boundaries of the Settlement have been closed and no persons are permitted to enter or leave the Settlement unless able to give evidence of being engaged in peaceful pursuits.

2.—The assembling of crowds on the streets or public places of the Settlement is not permitted. Those who have no lawful business to attend to must not loiter on the streets or other public places or mix with agitators and lonfers bent upon evil designs.

3.—All peaceful residents are exhorted to retire to their houses during the hours of darkness. The Defence Forces have orders forcibly to disperse any crowd assembling in the streets, or public places, and Injury or Damage may be sustained by any person contravening this order.

4.—No credence should be given to rumours calculated to stir up animosity and foment disturbance. Those spreading such rumours will be punished without the least leniency.

5.—The distribution of Handbills of an inflamatory character and the exhibition of flags bearing characters furnishing incitement to disorder, are prohibited.

6.—Vehicles of every description, and pedestrian traffic must give way to the passage of the Defence Forces of the Settlement.

Civil Warfare In China Vexes Japan Shipowners

Tokio, Oct. 9.—Japan's shipping to China has been seriously affected by the civil war in China. Ever since the outbreak of hostilities there in August, shipping from this country to Chinese ports has been crippled and it showed a 70 percent decrease to Shanghai in the first half of September. Owing to the exportation of sugar, food supplies and war materials, the situation developed better in the latter half of that month. This was due to the fact that it was anticipated war would last longer than it was expected at the beginning.

Because of financial depression and panic, shipping to the Tientsin district decreased 60 percent during September in comparison to that in August and more than 50 percent to that of September last year. Although this district has not yet become part of the war zone, the general effect of the civil war has been disasterous.

Shipping to Dairen, however, has increased as war materials have been transported there. Shantung is regarded to be the most prosperous port, being situated outside of the war zone. But a recent check-up indicates a 20 to 30 percent decrease in shipping to that port from this country, also.

Cargo consisting of bran, seeds, hemp, charcoal and chicken eggs weighing 6,000 tons was imported to Kobe and Osaka from the district along the Yangtze River and this amount shows an increase of 18 percent compared with the total amount imported during September, 1923. A 40 percent increase is seen during the past month in incoming cargo consisting in bran, chicken eggs and other natural products in the northern provinces of China, and this is a 153 percent increase over that of the same month in last year.

TOTAL CHINA EXPORTS

According to an announcement issued by the Department of Finance on the figures of Japan's trade with China, the total exports during September amounted to Y16,492.000 in round numbers, and that of imports amounted to Y11,961,000. This is an excess of exports amounting to Y4,531,000. This, however, shows a decrease in surplus exports amounting to Y12,640,000 in comparison to that in September, last year.

As for the number of passengers, it is usual that there are less tourists during September. On account of the outbreak of the war, however, there was a considerable number of Chinese who returned home from this country. In consequence, only a 10 percent decrease is noted during the month.

The experts on shipping industry claim that the interland district is so far effected less by the war, and Japan's shipping industry should not be hard hit in that district. Furthermore, should the present situation last long, most merchants in China may decide to carry out their trade, and shipping may revive in the near future.

Scheme To Simplify Customs Procedure In Yokohama Port

The Yokohama Maritime Customs a few days ago announced that much of the "red tape" now connected with importing goods to Japan will be cut out with the inception of plans to simplify the procedure at the port.

This action has grown out of the remarkable increase in cargo arriving at Yokohama since the earthquake a year ago, and the subsequent longer delay in clearing goods at the Customs Dock. Facilities have been improved from time to time, but the increase has become greater and it has been impossible to keep up with it under the present system.

Import merchants, both foreign and Japanese, have taken up this matter of longer delays with the customs officials recently, and requested something be done to lessen the length of time cargoes remain in customs. The plan to do away with some of the detail work heretofore considered essential resulted.

It is reported only one inspection of 131 items subject to the specific duty tax will be conducted in future. Among these items are cereals, pulp, ores, coal, copper, iron, tin, lead, aluminium and rails. These have been checked heretofore, once by inspecters and again by checkers. The first inspection will be abolished.

Inspection of large cargoes whose quantity is known, as peanut oil, bean oil and the like, will be finished on board ships lying outside the harbor.

Freight Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Co. state in their current report: The civil war in China has lasted now over six weeks and the end is not yet in sight—it is not surprising therefore, that the export trade to Europe and America continues to languish, and with the exception of tea, there is nothing moving worth speaking about. We understand the reports on the crops for this autumn are satisfactory and this should tend to improve matters.

Coastwise: It is reported that a number of Chinese steamers have been commandeered and there is consequently a scarcity of Chinese tonnage on the berth and charter routes; as a result, rates are slightly firmer although there has not been much increase in the volume of cargo offering.

Hongkong Stocks

Messrs. Moxon and Taylor state in their weekly share report dated October 10:

We have had a very quieter market during the week under review with a considerably smaller business passing through than there has been for many weeks.

The Shanghai market is again very quiet and little if any business passing.

The following are the principal alterations since last week:—

Hongkong Banks: Owing to the steady rise in exchange, have eased off and have come business at $1,160 at which price however there are further buyers.

Unions: Continue strong and have risen to a buying rate of $240.

Hotels—Have been the medium of a fair amount of business during the week, old shares changing hands as high as $22.40, but at the close are rather easier again.

Hongkong Lands: After firming up to a buying rate of $120, close easier with sellers at $118½.

Humphreys.—After firming up with buyers at $23¾, also close rather easier with sellers at $23.40.

Cements: Have been fairly steady, closing with buyers for Combined share at $22¾ cash.

Kowloon Wharves: Have again been up and down. In the early part of the week they were in good demand at $211 to $212 cash, but have again eased off, closing with sellers at $208.

Hongkong Docks: Have been fairly steady and a good number of shares have changed hands.

Shanghai Docks: Owing to Shanghai continually buying, have firmed up to a buying rate of Tls. 94.

Ropes: Are quiet at quotations.

Hongkong Electrics: Have been in some demand and are wanted at quotations.

Hongkong Trams: Have eased off a little during the week and have come to business at $15.00 closing with buyers at that price but no sellers under $46.

Peak Trams: Continue in demand and have risen to $22 for old and $4¾ for new shares.

China Sugars: Are firm at quotations but few shares have changed hands during the week.

China Providents: Have eased a little but are still wanted and combined shares can be placed at $32 cash.

China Lights: Have also eased off, closing normal at $27.60.

Dairy Farms: Are weaker and have come to business at $25 ex dividend.

Lane Crawfords: Are wanted at $18½.

Steamboats: Are easy with sellers prevailing.

London Quotations of the 9th inst: Hongkong Banks £137, Indos Deferred £14 10/—, Shells £3. 18. 6. All middle prices.

Exchange: The demand selling rate on London is 2/5⅛ and the T.T. on Shanghai is Tls. 69¼.

Coal Market

In their report relative to the state of the coal market, Messrs. Wheelock and Co. state:

Japan Coal: During the past fortnight a certain amount of business has been done in our local coal market and the demand still continues and is likely to do so as long as the supply of Chinese coals is being curtailed on account of the civil war in China.

The market in Japan is very firm and there is a strong demand for all kinds of coal.

Fushun Coal: No change.

Fuchung Anthracite: Stocks very low, strong demand, prices firm.

Kaiping Coal: The military authorities in the north have monopolised practically the whole railway and unless peace is quickly arrived at there is little prospect of supplies coming forward. In the meantime stocks here will gradually diminish.

Rubber Auction

Messrs. J. A. Wattie and Co. have received the following telegram dated 15th inst. from their Singapore agents:

Average prices:
Sheet 56¾ cts.
Crepe 56¾ cts.
Catalogued 426 tons.
Sold 249 tons.
Market steady.
London quotation 1s. 4¼d.

Exchange Market

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand state in their exchange circular for the week ending October 15:

After fluctuating daily the price of bar silver in London has declined, since the date of our last circular, to 35 5/16d. per ounce, for spot and forward deliveries, or one farthing down. New York silver is also down to 71⅛ a decline of ¼ cent during the same period.

When on Monday morning it was reported that hostilities had been suspended in this district, fairly large covering transactions were made on the part of native speculators, who are very largely oversold, and, in addition to which a fairly good demand for T.T. from merchants arose causing a disinct weakness to be felt, sterling T.T. declining from 3s. 5¾d. to 3s. 5d. However, rates recovered rapidly and we are very steady at the close of business, quotations being 3s. 5¾d. for T.T. on London, and 78⅜ on America.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and bar silver Tls. 50,054,000, an increase of Tls. 242,000.

Chinese and Mexican dollars $46,220,000, a decrease of $1,820,000.

Silver yen, Yen. 800,000.

Estimated value Tls. 83,270,000 as against Tls. 54,655,000 held at this time last year.

Weather Reports

Oct. 15.—The anticyclone is still central over Lake Baikal. A depression is crossing Chihli and Manchuria; another one appears in our Valley. A typhoon centre is advancing NW ward or NNW ward by the north of Yap. Sly winds shifting to the north over Chihli and the Yellow Sea. S or SEly breezes along our coasts; variable winds in the Formosa Strait. Overcast in most of the stations. Damp and hot weather at Shanghai.

Oct. 16.—The depression takes to the Sea during the night... Rain and rather fresh Nly winds. The pressure is swiftly increasing.

Oct. 17.—Overcast and cold weather. The depression is advancing swiftly towards Southern Japan, moving E-N-Ewards. The Guam typhoon will probably continue N-N-W'wards or North-wards. Strong Northerly winds all along the China coast spreading as far as the Formosa Strait.

Shanghai, Friday, October 17, 1924

The Government Of The Shanghai Area

THE proposal of a group of Chinese property owners in Chapei reported to have been made to one of the members of the Consular Body last week that in case of serious disturbance the police authorities of the Municipal Council be authorised to assist in the preservation of order in the native cities, brings up rather pointedly the whole matter of the cooperation of the Chinese and foreign authorities in the entire region embraced in "greater Shanghai."

Owing to proposals emanating from the Consular Body a few years ago looking to the ultimate annexation of the Chapei district to Shanghai proper and the refusal of the Chinese authorities to listen to the proposal, the situation has remained in a deadlock in recent years to the detriment of the interests of both sides.

Now however that a war situation has developed in this part of China, Chinese property owners have begun to realise that their interests do not differ from the interests of foreign property owners and that it would be a great advantage if they had protection similar to that which Chinese and foreign property owners enjoy inside of the foreign settlement boundaries. In view of the fact that many foreigners own important properties in Chapei, the situation existing in that section is nothing short of ridiculous. Foreign property owners know that in case the situation should become serious that the Consular authorities would authorise protective measures being adopted for foreign owned property outside of the foreign settlements. Hence how foolish it is to consider a situation where foreign owned property in Chapei would receive protection while property owned alongside by a Chinese might be left to the tender mercies of a mob of soldiers bent on loot, murder and arson.

If the situation does become worse in the native sections of the city, it is quite possible that the Chinese Chamber of Commerce may invite the Consular Body to extend protection and the Consular Body knowing full well that a menace to the outskirts of Shanghai might quite easily spread to the Settlement, doubtless would heed this appeal. It has been reported that the Settlement authorities might refuse to consider such an appeal unless the Chinese property owners would agree to annexation, but regarding this point there is no definite information available.

The point to it all is that there are many elements of similarity in the problems of the International Settlement of Shanghai and the Native Cities of Shanghai. Both sides realise these problems now as never before and it would be unfortunate indeed if the lessons of the present crisis should be immediately forgotten. Whether it is police protection, fire protection, water supply, public health, road construction, traffic regulations or a dozen of other lines the interests on both sides of the Settlement line are similar. Therefore it should be possible for sensible and reasonable men to get together on some plan of cooperation which would be mutually beneficial and at the same time save the faces of both sides.

In the United States there have been many examples of rapidly growing cities similar to the present Shanghai situation. For many years the towns adjacent to the large municipalities maintained their separate existence, but after a while both sides realised the futility of opposition and rivalry and finally arrived at a common understanding mutually satisfactory and beneficial to property interests. We believe that if this problem could be approached in a proper spirit now or when the present trouble is over that a solution of the problem of the government of the Greater Shanghai might be solved.

Business Men And Politics

REFERRING to the charge by Dr. Sun Yat-sen regarding his alleged formation of a party similar to the Fascist movement, in the course of an interview at Canton, Mr. Chan Lim-pak, the Commander-in-Chief of the Kwangtung Provincial Volunteers and Commandant of the Canton Merchant Volunteer Corps, while denying the justice of the charge, took the opportunity to declare that many business men, like himself, had more work than they could attend to and had no time to go into active politics. Foreigners endowed with an ordinary modicum of intelligence do not require to be told that, under the present conditions, political service is not by any means attractive, and no decent person nowadays cares to bother with politics. To the business man, professional officialdom is neither honorable nor respectable. It is unnecessary to occupy political offices to serve the country. That is something which men like Tong Shao-yi have found for themselves, which accounts for their rigid seclusion from the political arena, on the principle that one cannot touch pitch without getting soiled. Thus the best elements in the intellectual life of China have washed their hands clean of politics, which has been usurped by a band of self-seekers who have made a business of politics and to whom constant turmoil and disorder, which is poison to the people, is most nourishing meat. Once order is set up throughout the length and breadth of the land, the chief excuse for the existence of politicians in China would vanish. This explains why there has been practically not a single year of peace since the establishment of the so-called Republic and why at the present moment the entire country is embroiled in extensive civil war, with the ever present danger of international complications by reason of the contiguity of vast hordes of Chinese troops to foreign interests, which have nothing whatever to do with quarrels and squabbles of China's politicians and militarists.

Mr. Chan Lim-pak voices the sentiments of a large body of Chinese and foreigners when he asserts that at the present time very few militarists and politicians can be found who are genuinely patriotic. They are all working for their own ends, not for democracy but for the ruin and destruction of all institutions aiming at a government by and for the people. The men who draft from time to time Dr. Sun Yat-sen's fulminations against foreign Powers are very fond of saying that the Powers have blocked the completion of the "historic work of the Revolution," which is sheer nonsense, for the Chinese militarists, north and south, themselves, by their rare disregard of the welfare of the country, have made the name of republic a mockery in the eyes of the world. The Canton merchants, for example, originally had not thought of overthrowing Dr. Sun Yat-sen. They have been opposing him only because of his oppressive acts and confiscatory taxation and owing to the lawlessness of his mercenaries, who have been let loose to prey upon the people, who can no longer bear the yoke which has been ruthlessly imposed upon them by the "Father of the Republic."

There can be no true peace and unification in China until militarism is dethroned and all militarists, both in the North and in the South, have been overthrown by the united effort of the people. The militarists have had their day. It is up to the people of China now to devise ways and means to protect themselves, since there is no Government to protect them. If they continue impotent in the face of all that has happened, is happening and is likely to happen, we fear that they are beyond redemption. It is no part of a business man's duty to meddle with politics, but when militarism is brought literally to his very doors, it is time to take some tangible action. It is probable that eventually a Merchant Volunteer Corps may become a vital necessity in every city and hamlet in China, for the Chinese merchants and working classes can no longer afford to chance. The militarists have organised themselves against law and order. The people might take a lesson from them and organize themselves against the forces of lawlessness. God helps those who help themselves. The people, if they so wish, can fight the militarists with their own weapon, but unless they strike a blow for freedom, it is greatly to be feared that militarism may become a normal thing in the life of the people of this country and the nation may frankly resign itself to a prolonged period of chaos and organised lawlessness. What China now needs above everything else is a scientific campaign against militarism, even to the extent of making every able-bodied son of the Republic bear arms and learn how to use it if need be. It is unbecoming for a great country like China to lie helpless and prostrate under the cloven hoof of a sinister giant—MILITARISM.

More Truth Than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

Smith worries as he views the situation;
He finds a lot of reasons for alarm;
Progressive movements, in his estimation,
Are always likely to be fraught with harm.
"Why risk a change?" he anxiously inquires;
"Why set our feet in paths that are unknown?
We must not lose the faith that filled our sires;
Let well enough alone!"

Brown tells us we must guard our institutions,
That property must be inviolate;
"We can't afford to imitate the Rooshuns!"
Yells Brother Brown, whose vested rights are great.
The G. O. P., he tells us, has forgotten
The principles its founders had in mind;
"It's honeycombed with graft," he says, "and rotten;
Its future lies behind!"

Jones thinks the time has come for drastic action;
"The two old parties," he declares, "are bad;
We needn't look to them for satisfaction,
They both have lost the virtues they once had!
New leadership is needed, new assurance
That still the people's mandate is supreme;
Our patience has been tried beyond endurance,
And that's no idle dream!"

I'm looking on—an innocent bystander—
With no great expectations and no fear,
Admitting that I'm no wise Alexander
And that I'm not a prophet or a seer;
I'll bet, though, that we'll have no overturning,
And that no matter how the voting goes
We'll hear a lot, four years from now, concerning
The old, familiar woes.

Excerpts From Great Writers

By Mathy

COLLEGES AND AUTOMOBILES

"I don't know what to do with my boys. They are through high-school, ready for college, and I have about made up my mind that they shall not go to college."

It was a gentleman of culture, of means, and of some standing in the professional world who was speaking. He was an old friend of mine; we were lunching together, with a third man.

"Modern schools, and particularly modern universities, are medieval hang-overs. In an age of progress they are the most stupidly reactionary of all our institutions. They are advanced enough in some things; in fact, they are advanced in everything—except in education.

"They have not the first notion of equipping a boy for life.

"They can develop a schoolmaster, an engineer, or an expert of one kind or another, but they cannot develop a well rounded human being.

"I don't know why I should send my sons to four years of the dark ages as to their studies, and four years of absolutely vicious and demoralising social life as to their leisure hours.

"I think I shall put them to work and have them take up the Chautauqua course in their spare time.

"It would seem that in this era of mad prosperity and its attendant materialism and low ideals the university should be the place where the youth could be shown the real and serious facts of life, where there could be plain living and high thinking, where souls could be shaped into sterling character and the gentle love of letters be instilled.

"But what do you find? Look here at what Dr. Arthur G. Webster, of Clark University, says."

He showed me an article in a newspaper wherein were these strictures by Dr. Webster:

"The result of our prosperity is swollen fortunes, the automobile classes, the pursuit of pleasure, the exaggeration of dancing, the lack of interest in all things that cannot be measured by the yardstick of business success.

"About all that people want to know about now are automobiles, dancing, movies, and baseball.

"Show me a boy who is interested in arithmetic, and I will show you a hundred interested in the newest self-starting gear.

"The automobile, while of course not immoral itself, seems to lend itsely eagerly to every species of crime, from that of the Paris apache to that of the Harvard loafer.

"It is no secret that there are loafers at Harvard. There are too many automobiles, too much 'gold coast' and too much of the outside activities. Harvard is, however, no worse than Yale, Princeton, or any of the colleges of the Atlantic seaboard. What is true of one is true of all.

"The big colleges are fast becoming known by their athletic achievements rather than their positions as educational centres. Their graduates care little for learning in any form. Recently dozens of classes held reunions and whooped up for dear old Harvard. In these class reunions, if anybody endeavored to make a speech pertaining to learning, he would be howled down.

"The most discouraging fact in connection with American education is the lack of interest in it and the ignorance regarding it among educated men."

"But," said the gentleman with side whiskers, who made the third of our party, "is something to be said on the other side."

"There is always something to be said on the other side of anything that's endowed for a million or so," said my friend.

Correspondence

THE CHINA PRESS welcomes the views of its readers on subjects of the day, but publication in the correspondence column does not mean necessarily that the views expressed by correspondents are those of THE CHINA PRESS. Manuscripts submitted for this department should be plainly written on one side of the paper only. Unused manuscripts will be returned only when so requested and accompanied by self-addressed stamped envelope.

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS:

Sir:—When Lu Yung-hsiang was compelled to take his way from Hangchow to Shanghai, two proclamations were promulgated. Just have a review of them and one will convince what I said in reply to Mr. Francis Zia sometime ago. He said:

(1) that I return Chekiang to the people of Chekiang, and that I feel it immoral to ruin Chekiang; and

(2) that I will fight to the last man I have.

Take it granted that Chekiang has not suffered (yet in fact it is), what rival feeling Lu has towards the people of Kiangsu that he should determine to ruin a province, the people of which are never enemies to those of Chekiang. Now he saw no more means to have a fight, so he absconded leaving many soldiers without shelter and food, yet who have been sacrificed so much in order to complete his selfish aim. He said he would fight to the last man, now what that means? It is easy for him to leave Hangchow, but see what harm he has and will have done to the people of Kiangsu?

This being the case, the Diplomatic Body will be wise to take the first step in treating them as rebels. They are fighting against the government which the foreign powers recognise. They should not have the privilege as political refugees.

Now Hsu Shu-cheng has been privileged as a political refugee. He has been taking advantage of this in plotting against the government. Had the foreign powers not given him such privilege, no harm would ensue. The foreign powers should be blamed for this, in as much as they often do what the Chinese government wish them not do, and vice versa. Take Little Hsu as an example and the foreign powers will be aware of their previous misfeasance. In other words, they should not take advantage of the weakness of the Chinese government in order to do what they wish without considering the rights of the government.

So likewise in the north as it is in the south, the Diplomatic Body should be awakened to help the government in ridding off the rebels so that to the end this may mean profit to both parties.

AN ANTI-SELFISH CHINESE.
Shanghai, Oct. 16, 1924.

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS:

Sir:—In Mr. Francis Zia's letter under the heading "Little Hsu and the Neutrality of the Powers" published in your today's paper, I find that Mr. Zia introduced a statement as "being freely circulated" that General Hsu Shu-tseng (Little Hsu) and General Yang Hua-chao were arrested by the foreign guards stationed near Chapei when the Generals "were returning from a military conference held in the Club and Library Building opposite the Commercial Press Works."

Now there is only one Club and Library Building opposite the Commerical Press Works, and that one one is the property of the Commercial Press Ltd. and is now used as a Red Cross Hospital. Without going into the absurdity of the report, I simply wish to say that the Commercial Press Ltd. is a purely commercial undertaking, is not interested in politics, and would much less countenance a conference of this sort; and consequently the report affecting a conference of this sort, and consequently the report affecting the Club and Library Building is altogether erroneous.

Tahnking you in anticipation for the space you allow to my letter,

ALEX. Y. TING.
A Director of the Commercial Press Ltd.
Shanghai, Oct. 16, 1924.

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS:

Sir:—I have been requested on behalf of the members of the above Church to express to you our thanks for the reports which appeared in your paper of the special meetings held last week by the Rev. J. M. McGinnis, D. D.

That the Church was filled every evening to hear the fine addresses by Dr. McGinnis, was largely due, no doubt, to the notice taken of them by the Press, and we are accordingly desirous of expressing our appreciation thereof.

Yours faithfully,
GEO. HOWELL,
Hon. Sec.

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS:

Sir:—I shall be much obliged to you if you will be good enough to allow me to make one slight correction in connection with my letter of yesterday concerning the arrest of General Hsu Shu-tseng and his party, namely the conference was not held at the Club and Library (of the Commercial Press) opposite the Commercial Press Works but at one of the buildings near the Railway Station.

Yours truly,

Why talk so much about your misfortunes?

The more you talk about them, the more you think of them, the less you spend time in an effort to offset the effect of the "misfortunes."

Sometimes what seems a great misfortune, turns out to be a blessing in disguise.

You may need a severe set-back to wake you up to greater effort for achievement.

You may need a shock to open your eyes to your duty to others.

You may need a disappointment to save your life for greater things.

If you are the sort to bewail your misfortunes, you should spend your hours and your days trying to solve the reason for your misfortune.

Thinking and talking failure keeps you in "failure trim."

You lose confidence in self and others lose confidence in you.

All because you are eternally crying about your misfortunes.

If you do not brace up you will deserve all you get, and more may be sent to get you into the right attitude toward your future.

DRESS

The Thin Black Frock Is Still Chosen by Many Smart Women For Warm Days in Town.

"For whom and for what are we in half-mourning this summer?" asks a French fashion observer. And then after suggesting various reasons she continues: "Whatever the reason may be, it is evident that all the gatherings of well-dressed people show such predominance of black and white that the uniform of smart women was a little straight frock of black alpaca or crepe, with collar of linen or mousseline de soie."

There are some dressmakers and manufacturers of women's clothes who always feel distinctly irritated at the suggestion that black, after all, is the choice for street wear of a large number of the best-dressed women. Of course, it is bad business. One wearies of colors much sooner, and white is so fragile that it cannot be worn for long.

Undoubtedly women are getting a little more venturesome in their choice of what they shall wear in town in the summer time. There was a time when really fashionable women when they had to spend days in town in summer rigidly avoided white and bright colors, leaving them to the less fortunate women who stayed in town all summer anyway and had no other place to show their summer things. Now one does see more really fashionable women wearing white or colored clothes in town. You even see them in rather brightly-clored figured crepes. But here, as in Paris, there still is a very considerable number of the best-dressed women who feel as if light and bright summer clothes were not quite suited to city wear.

The frock sketched was worn by one of the best-dressed women I know as she came to town last week from her summer place in the mountains. The frock was of black georgette and the small hat of black braid. Gloves were light kid, stockings of flesh color—not of the rosy cast. About her neck she wore a small fur collar of fox.

Black georgette frock and hat to wear in the city. The bodice is plain and the skirt is draped at the side.

WHITE PAINT AND OLD WOODWORK

It is really remarkable what can be done with a can of white paint—several cans, to be exact, for one can doesn't go very far. Many dilapidated old houses have been at least partially renovated simply by the liberal use of white paint.

One old farmhouse on the Connecticut shore that has been bought for the summer home of a woman who has a distinct taste for household decoration has really been made charming with the simplest sort of decorations. The rooms have been papered with a very light cream paper, and then painted in various colors. The plaster was too old and rough to be painted, and so the paper was used as a foundation for paint The effect is excellent, soft, because of the paper foundation. Somewhat irregular, because it was applied by the woman in question, who is not an expert painter. Therefore, the result is original and interesting. Then all the woodwork has been given three thorough coats of white paint, the last one a slightly glossy one in some of the rooms, flat finish in the others. The old floors have been puttied up and painted either buff or gray.

White muslin curtains at all the windows—and the house was ready for the furniture, and at a very small expenditure.

Turning Mercury Into Gold

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

Here comes a story as thrilling as any told of the magical doings in the secret laboratories of the medieval alchemists—a story of the creation of gold from a baser metal—which, in this ultra-scientific age, is received with more credit than skepticism, because science itself, within a few years past, has virtually been compelled to admit that the great transmutation is possible, and has even experimented with the method of achieving it.

In July last, two German savants, Dr. Miethe, Director of the Laboratory of Photochemistry in the technical school of Berlin-Charlottenburg, and his collaborator, Dr. Stammreich, seized apparently with an impulse to outdo Faust with the aid of up-to-date chemistry, and acting on the theory that substances of great atomic weight, even though not radioactive, may not be very stable chemically, determined to try what results they could get from an effort to dissociate mercury, which is atomically a heavier substance than gold. Probably they were led to their choice of this substance to experiment upon by the fact that it has been suspected that there is helium in mercury. I derive this account of their proceedings from the scientific journal La Nature.

Knowing that an exceedingly powerful source of energy would be required, they used the electric current between two poles composed of chemically pure mercury, inclosed in tubes of fused quartz. An arc of from 400 to 2,000 watts, under a potential difference of 170 volts, was formed between the poles, and the operation was continued during several hundred hours.

At a certain moment an intense outgush of heat was manifested, as much as 1,400 degrees Centigrade, and also a dazzling luminous effect, of an incomparable whiteness and of 10,000 candlepower. Some time afterward the experiment was interrupted, and the apparatus was demounted.

In the residues they found particles of gold.

They themselves say that the result was a prodigious piece of luck. Here is the suggested explanation of what happened:

The atomic weight of mercury is put at 201, (by the international Commission table it is 200.6); that of gold is 197 (197.2). The difference, if the round figures are taken, is 4, which accords exactly with the atomic weight of helium. It looks then as if the dissociation of the mercury had released an atom of helium from undetected combination with each atom of mercury, leaving the residue composed only of atoms of gold. In other words, when the extra atom (helium) is detached from the atom constituting mercury, what remains is gold.

The experimenters were unable to find the least trace of helium in the residues, but they account for this by the exceedingly slight density of the gas, which would enable it to escape, even through the incandescent walls of the quartz tubes.

Whether this is finally to be accepted as an actual transmutation of mercury into gold remains to be seen. But for a number of years everything has been tending in that direction. The old alchemists whom we were taught in all the schools not any years ago to laugh at as fools, or despise as fakirs, if they could re-appear on earth now, would be justified in laughing at us in their turn.

We were over confident of the inalterability and indivisibility of the atom. We had a great deal of science in those days that wasn't so—and doubt we have some of that variety still left on our hands. But there are dying and dead cells in every living body, and because of their mutability it lives.

Even if no mistake exists in regard to this experiment, a panic in the gold market is not to be apprehended. Only from one-tenth to one one-hundredth of a milligram of gold was recovered in any of the assays, and it is estimated that, by the process followed, it would cost 25,000,000 francs to get a single kilogram of gold. Now, the price of mine gold is only 13,000 francs per kilogram.

The Schoolgirl

AT thirteen or fourteen years of age your daughter reaches a state of mental and physical transition. At school she is beginning to study subjects of relative difficulty, in which she must be examined. Her worries looming large and important in her maturing mind, will be magnified by any periodical physical depression.

Many mothers have helped their daughters through these years of great mental and physical activity by giving to them regularly Lydia E. Pinkam's Vegetable Compound. It will tone up the system, give them a new vitality, and energy to combat physical strain, nervousness, and listlessness.

"I am glad to say that I am one who takes your medicine and have found great relief from its use. I always suffered from pains at certain times and was advised by a friend to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so for one month and was surprised that all my pains vanished. You are welcome to use this letter to help others."

"W I N E"—bubbles with merry entertainment.
— makes them see things.
— foams with sensational merriment,
— is a picture of the pace that kills.
— is what you are waiting for.
— sparkles with excitement.
— is intoxicating with sophistication.
— is a rarity.
— makes a show of drink.
— has the kick.
— is a production with a stick in it.
— will give you a wonderful evening without a headache.

Hangchow Medical College Building Formally Opened

(Special Correspondence)

Hangchow, Oct. 15.—After years of hope and effort Dr. D. Duncan Main of the C. M. S Mission has realised his dream of a medical college building. The building is finished and yesterday was opened for public inspection. The formal opening of the handsome new structure, modern and thoroughly equipped brought together a large number of the friends of Dr. and Mrs. Main. Congratulatory messages were delivered by local officials and Dr. Main himself outlined the history of the institution which is now ready to house sixty students and provide for the instruction of as many more. There are approximately 40,000 patients a year for the hospital so the best of practice and experience will be at hand for the students.

The new building represents a combination of Chinese and foreign architecture and next to the Rockefeller Institution in Peking is said to be the best equipped in China. The ground and first floors will be available for teaching while the second floor will serve as living quarters for students. The various laboratories were planned by Mr. S. D. Main, a graduate of Edinburgh University and now chemistry lecturer in the school.

The present teaching staff consists of six foreign doctors, four other foreign teachers, two foreign educated Chinese doctors and ten other Chinese doctors, graduates of the School and three other Chinese teachers.

Many New Operas To Be Staged By The Italian Company

Owing to the Empress of Canada not sailing until the 25th, the Italian Grand Opera Company are extending their season until the 24th. These are positively the Company's last appearances in Shanghai before sailing for the Philippines and Java. On Monday, the 20th, the Company are presenting by special request "Lucia Di Lammermoor," and "Mignon" on Tuesday, 21st. Miss Minotti will be seen as "Mignon" —a role which shows this clever artiste at her best. On the 22nd "The Force Of Destiny" will be presented. This opera, whilst not so well known as many others, has lately been recognised as one of the most delightful of the operas, having, in addition to much musical merit, a great deal of movement and a most interesting plot. On Wednesday, the 23rd, "La Favorita" will be staged for the first time by this Company in Shanghai, whilst for the last performance of all, "Otello" will be given. "Otello," adapted from Shakespeare's ever-popular "Othello," should prove a very welcome addition to the many operas which the Company have presented during their season here. Mr. Carpi assure us that the roles for the above operas have been most carefully chosen from the best the Company can offer.

Special attention might be drawn to the matinee which is being given on Sunday of "The Barber of Seville," at which children will be admitted at half price.

The plans for all the operas are now open at Moutrie's.

Hongkong Governor Says Continuation Of Wembley Is Unsettled

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Oct. 16.—The Governor stated in the Legislative Council that the question of the continuation of the Empire Exhibition in 1925 was still unsettled. If it was decided to continue, it would be necessary to consider whether Hongkong should again take part in it.

In the Judicial and Legal Departments, increased provision has been made, after consultation with the Foreign Office, to cover the cost of the registry of companies in Shanghai.

Unsold Stocks Cause Steel Company To Render Workers Idle

(Reuter's Service)

Jamshedpur, Oct. 15.—The Tata Iron and Steel Company is drastically economising. A coke oven, a blast furnace and an iron ore mine have been closed owing to congestion of unsold stocks. Many workers have been rendered idle.

The Tariff Board is shortly coming to Bombay to enquire into the Company's application for imposition of offsetting duties under the Steel Production Act following the rise in exchange and the heavy fall in the price of Belgian steel.

War Has Bad Effect On Kalgan Business

Kalgan, Oct. 10.—A number of troops sent by the Tutung of Suiyuan have lately passed through Kalgan on their way up to Lamamiao, a place about 500 li N.E. of Kalgan. They have camels and horses with them, a necessary precaution, as most of the camels, carts, mules, horses and oxen of this district, and even several motor cars have already been commandeered.

A large number of troops have lately passed through Kalgan, ever since the original garrison, after a few days shooting drill, left for Jehol. The constant use of the railway for the transportation of these and the commandeering of so many carts, animals and motor cars have hindered business considerably, which is especially unfortunate after the difficulties of the summer.

Owing to Kalgan's poverty as a result of the flood and the present war, the Tutung here has forbidden the exportation of silver into Mongolia, a measure which the foreign businessmen as well as the native naturally protest against as a considerable hindrance to Mongolian business.
